11th & 12th February 2012

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO ALL PARENTS

At these championships the IJF Rules will apply to the Cadet divisions.

The IJF permits the use of strangling techniques by players in the Cadet divisions. These techniques might not have been taught to players in this age bracket in this country as they are contrary to the JFA rules for juniors. Therefore this warning is issued to parents whose children are participating at these championships.

All players in the Cadet division are hereby informed that the JFA ACT Inc does not accept any liability for any injury that may occur due to strangling techniques or any other injury directly related to these championships.

Players must have their own insurance policy to cover themselves against such injury.
(Australian players are covered by their National Registration and Insurance)
